Naomi LaViolette

Naomi LaViolette, songwriter, pianist, and vocalist, has found an acoustic niche between the worlds of folk singer-songwriter and jazz soulstress. Her music takes two parts Sarah McLachlan, one part Joni Mitchell, and adds a dash of Madeleine Peyroux's understated elegance for a concoction that is extremely palatable and sweet, with an edge.

As a songwriter, LaViolette composes from an authentic outpouring

LaViolette's music strikes a distinctive balance between a variety of musical styles and soul-filled honesty. Her roots are deep in classical music, with a master's degree in classical piano performance. She's immersed herself in jazz standards, folk songs, soul, pop and gospel music. All these influences weave in and throughout LaViolette's songs, creating a musical vibe that is both vintage and current at the same time.
