P.S. I Still Love You by Jenny Han

—The Song sisters are back, and Lara Jean's boy troubles are even more complicated in this To All the Boys I've Loved Before sequel. The quixotic middle Song sister has fallen for popular Peter, and they've become a real couple. Navigating the awkward and thrilling aspects of her first relationship, Lara Jean inwardly debates realistic teen quandaries: how far should she go with Peter and whether she'll become one of those girls who forgets about her friends once she has a boyfriend.

Forever for a Year by B. T. Gottfred

Carolina Fisher is a newly minted high-school freshman with big hopes for the year ahead. Trevor Santos is a jaded transfer student from California, who isn't interested in anything his new Illinois school has to offer—until he meets Carolina. Writing in the teenagers' alternating perspectives, debut author Gottfred captures the starry-eyed exhilaration of first love (and nervous first explorations of sex) with tenderness and humor

A Sixteenth Summer Swept Away by Michelle Dalton

Mandy isn't looking forward to a summer caring for the local lighthouse, but when a stranger takes notice of the coastal Maine landmark--and of Mandy--she's about to embark on her first summer romance.

Some Kind of Normal by Juliana Stone

A drunken car ride leaves once-golden boy Trevor Lewis with traumatic brain injury, headaches, and seizures, ending his privileged and previously unexamined life. Everly (Ever) Jenkins believes her pastor father is having an affair, and her suspicions are destroying her equanimity. Ever has been assigned as Trevor's tutor, and neither of them is looking forward to it. Alternating first-person narratives reveal the inner lives of these seventeen-year-old characters—their hopes, despairs, and growing attraction to one another.

The Start of Me and You by Emery Lord

Paige Hancock starts junior year with a list of ways to take back her life, rather than spending another year as "The Girl Whose Boyfriend Drowned," and finding out that Ryan Chase, her long-term crush, is available again might be the key.

The Truth About Us by Janet Gurtler

Jess feels like nobody "gets" her. Yes, she may be pretty, and she may have a lot of money, and she may be friends with the most popular girl in school, but what Jess needs are real friends who understand her. Jess has a lot of things going on in her life, and she has not chosen the best methods for coping recently. After an incident with her supposed friend Nance, Jess's father decides she needs to be reprimanded. Her punishment is to volunteer at the local shelter while the rest of her posse spends the summer soaking up the sun.

Kissing Ted Callahan (And Other Guys) by Amy Spalding

Sixteen-year-olds Riley and Reid make a pact to pursue their respective crushes and document the experiences in a shared notebook they call "The Passenger Manifest."

Things We Know By Heart by Jessi Kirby

A year after losing her boyfriend in an accident, Quinn secretly tracks down the recipient of his donated heart in an attempt to heal, but ends up falling for him.

99 Days by Katie Cotugno

Molly Barlow is facing one long, hot summer--99 days--with the boy whose heart she broke and the boy she broke it for-- his brother.
