

February 20: Hear the Author, Naomi Benaron

Hear the Author, Naomi Benaron: Portrait of the Author as a Young Rock Hound: How a Scientist Came to Write About Rwanda

Wednesday, February 20, 7:00 p.m. at Lake Oswego High School Auditorium, 2501 Country Club Rd.

NOTE: TICKETS ARE REQUIRED. HOWEVER, GUESTS WITHOUT TICKETS WILL BE ABLE TO ENTER THE AUDITORIUM AT 6:45 PM IF THERE ARE SEATS AVAILABLE. EVERY YEAR THERE HAS BEEN SEATS AVAILABLE AT SHOW TIME.

Naomi Benaron introduces her background, how she came to writing and specifically how she came to writing about Rwanda. As the 2012 Bellwether Prize awardee, she will also address what winning the prize has meant to her, as well as why it is so important a prize. She will delve into the history and politics of Rwanda, and the ties that make it important to Western Society. She will address how science and athletics weave their way into the book and how they are metaphors for the politics and history of Rwanda. Admission is free but a ticket is required. Tickets will be available at the Lake Oswego Library starting at 11 am on Saturday, January 19. Arrive early. There will be a two ticket per person limit and a LOPL Library card is required. Learn more about Naomi here

See pre-show PowerPoint presentation below:

Supporting Documents

Pre-show PowerPoint presentation!

February 20: Hear the Author, Naomi Benaron

Published on City of Lake Oswego Oregon Official Website (<http://ci.oswego.or.us>)

Source URL (retrieved on 06/26/2017 - 5:31pm):

<http://ci.oswego.or.us/loreads/february-20-hear-author-naomi-benaron>